THOUGHTS.

BY J. G. LONDEN.

A youth is sitting alone in the night.
And gazing aloft to the stars so bright,
Thinking of home and those who, when there
In boyish years, unknown of care.
But a tear steals o'er those bright dark eyes
As he sadly gazes, in those spangled skies,
For they hold to his heart, in sadness below,
Thoughts, that beamed brightest, long long ago.

A maiden is seated in halls of pleasure,
Amid the bright glitter of earthly treasure;
Yet thinking! her heart seems weary of noise
That mingles itself with earthly joys
A tear trinkles down from that beautiful eye,
As she thinks of those who sadly lie
In the grave. Oh, earth, may her heart be brought To always dwell in such saddened thought.

A tottering man borne down by age,
Sits reading anew, life's dreary page;
The bright golden hours of days gone by,
Brings visions of love to his fading eye.
Friends, that seemed dearest, fell from his way,
And hid their loved forms in the silent clay.
Yet he, of all, still wanders alone,
While those he loved, forever has flown.

Thus it is always on life's stormy river,
Our thoughts fall o'er us, ever and ever!
Bringing sad memories back to our heart,
That life had bid, forever to part,
The young and the old alike is given,
Through realms of mind, a view of Heaven.
Though friends of our young may dwell in the sky,
We often can view them in memories eye.

Select Miscellany.

Onslaught on a Country Editor in Illinois.

I was sittin in my office speculatin' in my own mind whether in the whole it wouldn't be best for to give myself away for the benefit of my family, when there comes a knock at the door.

There, says I, is some one anxious to subscribe for the El Paso Journal, so I uttered in a loud voice, "Come in."

She was dress in a pair of store boots, and an iron gray set of spectacles, and she walked up to me with majesty in her mein. I knew who it was the very minute I set my eyes on her.

It Was a woman.

I gracefully arose and said: "How are you, marm; was you wishing to subscribe to the El Paso Journal?" at the same time dippin' my pen in the ink, and opening my subscription book. This alwuz gets 'em. It looks like business.

It didn't get her though.

She fixed her glassy eyes on me, and said: "Young man; are you an advocate for the holy cause of woman's rights?"

"No, marm," said I, "I am a Presbyterian."

"Are you," she said, "prepared to embark with us over the sea with equal suffrage?"

"Marm," said I, "I haint got no objection to takin' a quiet ride with you, provided the boat aint leaky, and you'll do the rowin'."

A smile perused her features for a moment, and then she said, "I'm willin' to confer for the cause."

"Yes," said I, in a polite and softenin manner, "It li only cost two dollars, and we'll send it to any address for an entire year."

"Hev you a wife?" she asked

"I hev," said I, wonderin what she was comin' at. "So that you see I couldn't marry you ef I wanted to ever so much." I threw this in as a soother.

"Are you willin' that she should share with you the burdens and trials of life?"

"I aint howays perticklar," said I, "an I'll let her shoulder the whole of 'em if she has a bankerin that way!"

"Wood yew consent that she should go to the poles?" said she.

"She can go where she pleases," said I. "She generally does."

"Yew air a hole-souled man," said she, and throwin' her arms around my neck laft wildly.

"Git out," said I, "what are ye up to? I ain't one of them men. Stop!"

After much labor, I succeeded in unloosening her hand and sitting her down on a chair. I judged from her conduct that she stood in need of a few moral observations.

"You air an impulsive female," said I. "Your nature is at once spontaneous and outbreakin. You need a pair of martingils. Consider what would be your state of a man's wife was to catch you hug gin him in this style."

She wiped her face with her dress.—She had on a dress. I forgot to mention this fact in speakin of her spectacles.

"I am a worker in the cawse of woman's rights."

"Yes," said I, "you air. You ought to be ashamed of yourself. I should judge you was one of them lobby women that the Chicago Tribune correspondent tells of. But you can't come your nefarious arts over me. I am sealed against 'em."

"I should be pleased;" she said, "to go arm in arm with you to the poles."

"No you don't," said I, in alarm; "Not ef I have anything to say in the matter. I won't go with yoo—not a single darned pole."

"Young man," said she, "hast thou children?"

"I hev; seven of 'em. Can you show as good a record?"

Would you," said she, "have your girls grow up, and be married to base, sordid men, who would take away their political rights, and allow 'em no franchises?"

"Darn the franchises," says I, in a rage, "they are the things that women put on behind to give 'em the Grecian bend. Ef my daughters ever go to wear in 'em—"

"No, no," said she, "they are panniers."

"Well," said I, "panniers or franchises, or whatever you call 'em, I am opposed to 'em. They are onnatural and humpty. They degrade the human form into the likeness of a camel, and bring lovely woman down on all fours, like a cat."

"Then," said she, "come with me, and we will emancipate women from the slavery of dress."

"No," said I, with severity, "I hev no wish to take the close away from my woman. Wimmin without close would be an spectacle, particularly in winter, when the howling blasts prevail. Who are you, anyway? I asked of my visitor.

"I am a pilgrim," she said; "I belong to the Agitator, a noospaper devoted to the cawse of femail suffrage in Chicago."

"Well," said I, calmly, "the wimmin in Chicago need something of this sort. Where them that air married never know on goin' to bed at nite but what on wakin up in the morning they may be divorced, and them that ain't married spend their time in bettin' how many times they can be married and divorced within a month. The wimmin of Chicago need agitatin' powerfully. Keep a stirrin' on 'em up, if you please. The more you agitate the better for 'em."

With these words I arose; and, tellin' her to sit still until my return, I stole softly down stairs. I have not been back since. What will be the effect of leavin' a female agitator sittin' in my seat the whole of this time, I know not; but if she waits until I get back, her patience will be of cast iron.—El Paso (Ill.,) Journal.

Miss Anthony on Sleeping Alone.

Miss Susan B. Anthony is out with a paragraph in the Revolution recommending that married people should no longer sleep together; that every man, woman, and child should have a bed to him or herself; that those who are going to housekeeping should buy no double beds; and she exclaims with enthusiasm, "Cribbs, cots, and single beds for happiness!" Poets, both male and female, have often sung of "cots," but they have always insisted upon placing them beside a rill. Here is the paragraph upon which she bases advice:

The Laws of Life says: "More quarrels between brothers, between sisters, between hired girls, between apprentices in machine shops, between clerks in stores, between hired men, between husbands and wives, owing to electrical changes through which their nervous systems go by loding together night after night under the same bed-clothes, than by almost any other disturbing cause. There is nothing that will so derange the nervous force as to lie all night in bed with another person who is absorbent in nervous force. The absorber will go to sleep and rest all night, while the eliminator will be tumbling, tossing, restless and nervous, and wake in the morning fretful, peevish, fault findiof, and discouraged. No two persons, no matter who they are, should habitually sleep together. One will thrive and the other will lose. This is the law, and in married life it is defied almost universally."

An honest rustic went into the shop of a quaker to buy a hat, for which fifteen shillings was demanded. He offered twelve shillings. "As I live," said the Quaker, "I cannot afford to give it thee at that price." "As you live!" exclaimed the countryman; "then live more moderately, and behanged to you."—"Friend," said the Quaker, "thou shalt have the hat for nothing. I have sold hats for twenty years, and my trick was never found out until now."

Gift from Washington to Lafayette Found in a Pawnbroker's Shop.

We extract from a Nashville journal the following interesting account of the finding of a watch presented to Gen. Lafayette by Gen. Washington, and stolen from him during his visit to this country forty-four years ago:

While the Revolutionary war was going on, there lived in Philadelphia a Switzer named Weitzel, a watchmaker by trade, a man of great ingenuity and inventing genius. Having a great admiration for Gen. Washington, he constructed a watch with peculiar care, which, having placed in a valuable gold case, he presented to Gen. Washington, with instructions to present it to any man he might find who deserved more of the American people than himself. The General carried the watch until efforts of Gen. Lafayette had impressed him with the value and distinguished character of the man, and, believing that he had found the man designated by Weitzel in his instructions, he compelled Lafayette to accept it. Lafayette carried the watch until his return to this country, in 1825, when, as a guest of a grateful free people, he made a tour through the country, receiving everywhere the plaudits and welcome of a people of whose history he had written the bright page. While pursuing his triumphal journey, he arrived at Nashville, and while at that city, receiving the congratulations of the citizens of Tennessee, the watch was stolen. Every effort possible was made to recover it; the papers throughout the whole country advertised it; large rewards were offered, and the detective officers in all the cities were on the alert to recover the watch. But, in spite of all that was done at the time, the watch was not found, and in time the watch was forgotten.

Not many days since, in a Western city, a watch exposed for sale in the window of a pawnbroker, attracted much attention from people passing, by its peculiar make and value. One day an old gentleman passing the window, saw the watch, and on looking at it closely, became satisfied that he knew something about it, stepped into the shop, and requested the pawnbroker to let him examine it. This was readily granted.—After a moment the old gentleman exclaimed, "this was Gen. Lafayett's watch, presented to him by Gen Washington, and stolen from him on his visit to this country in 1825. I know it from the description published at the time." The pawnbroker was astonished to hear this, and proceeded, at once, to exculpate himself by assuring the gentleman that he did not have the slightest suspicion that it was stolen property; he had loaned some money upon it to a young girl who was in great distress, and who represented that it was a family relic, which had been given her by her mother. The gentleman insisted that the girl should be produced; he wanted to hear her story himself. He was much excited, and remarked that he was one of the marshals that arranged the procession to receive the great guest on the day the watch was stolen, and his honor, as well as that of every man then living in the nation, was involved. The pawnbroker said nothing was easier, as a girl, who danced at some place of entertainment, occupied a room in the next house, and if the gentleman would walk back and take a seat, he would send for the girl. The old gentleman took the proffered seat, and in a few minutes the girl came in. She looked meek and feeble, though young, and when questioned about the watch, did not evince the least want of composure, but without hesitation, proceeded to give, in answer to questions, the following narrative: She was born among the mountains of East Tennessee, and when she was about eight years old, her parents removed to Memphis, where they remained three years; then they went to St. Louis, where they lived until both parents died—her father died first, and about one year after her mother died. The watch had been in the possession of her father all her life; she could recollect seeing it in her youth distinctly; that her father, when importuned to sell it by visitors, invariably refused, saying that it had been in his family many years, he having received it on the death of his father, with positive instructions not to sell or dispose of it, but keep it in the family; her mother had charged her not to sell it, but keep it. She was then saving money to redeem the watch; would not have pawned it, but a severe fit of sickness had reduced her to such straits that she was obliged to resort to the watch to raise money for absolute necessaries to sustain life. The old gentleman heard the girl's story with astonishment, and, being satisfied from her manner that she told the truth, he felt convinced that the theft of the watch was still a mystery—or, at least, it would be impossible, after so many years, to learn who committed the robbery.

It is creating some excitement to know what disposition shall be made of this interesting relic, with its singular history. To whom can it be given? Who should properly be its custodian? Is there any heir of Lafayette who can legally claim it? Or should the United States Government come forward, pay charges, and place it in the Patent office Museum, with other relics of the great men of a former generation?

Liquor Laws in Politics.

Last Tuesday's elections show that the prohibitionists people made good their threat to have a hand in State politics whenever they could; and their work is visible from Massachusetts to Minnesota. So far, however, as can now be seen, their main achievement has been to damage their own cause. In the two States just mentioned, they made a very poor show; and in the former, where they once controlled the Legislature by an overwhelming vote, they have lost it by a majority equally overwhelming.

The policy of the prohibitionists has been at once grasping, inconsiderate, and shortsighted. They have clamored everywhere to have the single issue—and that a moral one—which they present, raised above the great fundamental political principles on which the two great parties of the country are organized. They have not even been content to take from these parties a general declaration of sympathy with any movement for true temperance, allowing every member of the party to exercise his own discretion as to the proper means for the progress of temperance. They have sought, rather, to commit political conventions to the support of their extremest measures; to allow no latitude of judgment; to read out of the ranks any person, no matter how hard a worker and honest thinker on all other questions, whose ideas on this subject did not square with their own. A man in favor of the strictest sort of license law was to be anathematized. And, in demanding those things, under all sorts of threats of "bolting" and opposing, the prohibitionists have never minced their words. By one of those curious contrasts we often see in politics, the special advocates of so-called "temperance" have furnished the most "frightful examples" of intemperance in language and conduct.

The result has been thus far, as we have said, that many people have violently opposed the prohibition movement, who, had it taken another form, would have suffered it to run its chances. It has secured the hatred of many who cannot submit to see all other interests sacrificed to this. That it should gradually have lost ground, even in Massachusetts, which would naturally give it something of a welcome and support is not wonderful when the persistency of its assumptions is considered.

If the friends of the temperance issue have learned wisdom by experience, they will hereafter content themselves with less than they have been accustomed to demand. Instead of trying to force the question on parties formed for different purposes, and instead of trying to break up those parties by reason of their unwillingness to have that dogma introduced as an article of general party faith, they will seek simply to throw their influence in behalf of friends of temperance in local elections, choosing, as between any two candidates, the one whom they consider to be the best man.—N. Y. Times.

Holiness and Humility.

Holiness and humility are inseparably connected. The nearer the soul comes to God, the more complete it is humbled, subdued and overpowered. It was when Job heard the voice of the Lord out of the whirlwind, that he exclaimed, "I abhor myself, and repent in dust and ashes." When the "still small voice" of God spake to the exiled prophet in his cave, he wrapped his blushing face in his mantle, and his whole being bowed before the divine presence and power. It was when the evangelical prophet Isaiah saw the glory of the Lord, and heard the winged seraphim crying to another, "Holy! holy, holy, is the Lord of hosts," that he cried out, "Woe is me, for I am undone." It was after Paul had been caught up in the third heaven that he said of himself that he was "the least of all the saints." And it was the beloved disciple whose head had leaned on the head of Jesus, and whose eyes had beheld his glory in apocalyptic vision, whose meek, child-like spirit have been the admiration of all ages. Thus it is with every saint of God on earth, and it is so with every glorified spirit in heaven.—The higher the soul rises in holiness, the deeper it sinks in humility and self-abasement. So sings Montgomery:

"The bird that soars on the highest wing,
Builds on the ground her lowly nest;
And she that doth most sweetly sing,
Sings in the shade when all things rest;
In lark and nightingale we see
What honor hath humility.

The saint that wears heaven's brightest crown,
In lowliest adoration bends;
The weight of glory bows him down
The most, when

Money---Pay Up!

We dislike to dun those of our subscribers whohave not paid up their subscriptions,for money,but we must have what is over due, within a brief time, even if we shall be compelled to use extra efforts to secure its collection.—To each of you, the sums are small; to us, the aggregate is important.—Those who receive the paper by the carrier, in town, may call at the office and settle, or on either of the Editors. Those out of town, may send by mail, at our risk, if they make the Postmaster a witness of the fact that the money is enclosed. Will not each of our patrons make it a point to attend to this at once? We are obliged for your patronage, grateful to those who have already paid, and are confident that those who have not paid, will now remit at once. As soon as you finish reading this number, send us the amount due, and if you can spare it, the sum due for the next year. You can thus insure the getting of value for your money by making it easy for us to furnish you a live paper.

A Word to Republicans---The State Treasuryship.

The history the Republican party has written for itself in this nation, is one of which every member ought to feel proud. It has contributed more to the elevation and happiness of the masses, than any other political organization that ever had an existence. It began its history for the purpose of ameliorating the condition of the oppressed white and black men of the country, and for the past fourteen years it has never lost sight of that purpose. It has battered down the mighty walls of prejudice, it has lifted up four millions of human beings out of the mire of slavery—it is now washing away their filth—clothing them in the garments of liberty, and putting into their hands the sword of protection, (ie) the ballot, against the future. It has given a new impetus to the advancement of civilization toward the far West, and has so regulated the public lands as to place a homestead within the reach of every man. Its redeemed promises of the past, and the principles which make up the platform of the present, should secure for it the confidence of liberty-loving men everywhere.

The fact that it has been the successful party for the past ten years, has drawn into its folds a large number of office-seekers and unprincipled men. Some of these have sought for positions of trust at its hands, only to develope that they were actuated by mercenary motives, and their acts of corruption are weighing down the party to a fearful extent.

This is a point we must jealously guard, or it will grow to be a ponderous weight, under which we must inevitably sink to rise no more. The honest masses of our party are not tired of the immutable principles for which we have fought in many a heated contest, nor are they finding fault with the progress we have made, but there is a great deal of dissatisfaction in relation to the conduct of some of the men who have been entrusted with office. This is evident in the nominations for Legislature during the past year. Many of the old members were placed on the retired list, while some who have been there before, were reported with the understanding that they would do better in the future.

The people are looking forward to the meeting of the next Legislature with extreme anxiety. They will expect that body, in its organization, to show, by the election of officers, that it means retrenchment, and that it will frown upon all "Rings" and "corruptionists."

There is one important office at its disposal, on account of the responsibility of the officer. We mean, of course, the State Treasuryship. It will be absolutely necessary for it to select for this position,a man who has the financial capacity, and the honesty of purpose, to do what is right—a man who will stop up all the leaks (if any are to be found), and who will so disburse the public funds that the pulse of this mighty Commonwealth shall beat with regularity, and the people, therefore willingly pay over their taxes, having the consciousness that every dollar is legitimately used for the benefit of the State.

From present indications there is a wide spread desire for a new man.—Several names have been mentioned in connection with the office, but from what we can learn, Hon. George F. Huff, of Greensburg, Westmoreland county, is the most formidable candidate. Some of our exchanges speak favorably of him, and many of the leading men in different parts of the State, who have wakened up to the importance of having a good man, are laboring for his election and above all, the people everywhere, who know him, are very anxious for him to be the coming man. Mr. Huff is a successful Banker and an excellent financier—a man of undoubted integrity, standing in his own community, and in all circles in which he moves, above suspicion. He is also a life-long Republican, and one of the most efficient workers in the party.

He is not an office-seeker, but his name was first suggested by one of the most sagacious leaders of the party in the State, who remarked before he was thought of as a candidate, "if you want an honest and able man for State Treasurer, that man is Geo. F. Huff." If the office is tendered to him he will accept of it, and fill it faithfully and well.

We hope that our Legislature will rise superior to the "petty rings" that infest Harrisburg about the first of January, and elect Mr. Huff to this office.

Congress and Senators.

It is useless to speculate as to who may be the Republican candidates, or what counties may receive the nomination. In the Congressional district, Cambria with her heavy Democratic majority, has had the Congressman three terms, six years, and will hardly again put in a claim for the place. Huntingdon has the United States Senator, and the President Judge, and on account of the recent troubles in the party there, it might not be prudent for her to claim the nomination. This would narrow down the candidate to Blair and Mifflin.

In the Senatorial district, Juniata and Huntingdon had the last candidates, Mr. Robison, Republican, of Juniata, and Mr. McIntire, Democrat, of Perry, were elected. Huntingdon, in consequence of this fact, and for the same reasons, as in the Congressional district, will hardly ask the nomination. Juniata will have no claim. This will give the two Senators to Blair, Centre, Mifflin and Perry, and as Perry has now a Senator, in the person of Mr. McIntire, she may not ask for the candidate, when it would be narrowed down to the three other counties.

We have no doubt there will be plenty of candidates, many of them good men, and although our reasoning above appears fair to us, yet if other plans should be adopted, we shall be content, always considering it the first principle of a good Republican to honestly support the fairly chosen representatives of his party. —Hollidaysburg Register.

We copy the above for two reasons; first, to show our readers that the REPUBLICAN is not the only paper which has already commenced preparations for the campaign of 1870; and second, to call the attention of the Register, and other papers in this Senatorial District, to the fact that Centre county does profess to have some claims for the next Senator. We have several good men; but at the proper time we propose to choose from all of the-e one of the very best, a high minded, honorable, upright, Christian gentleman, and give him the confirees of this county without a contest, and then respectfully, but earnestly, ask Juniata, Perry, Huntingdon, Mifflin and Blair, to sanction our claim by voting unanimously for Centre county's choice.

The Register, we know, will not require arguments from us to establish the claims of our county to the next Senatorial candidate; but on the other hand will, we believe, do all in its power to aid us in securing the nomination of the man, whoever he may be, designated by our county convention as the choice of the Republicans of Centre county.

We do not wish to be understood as possessing a desire to override—set at naught the claims of other men, or other counties—but we do propose, while we respect the rights of others, to put forth every effort, to labor in season and out of season, to write, and talk, and work in the interests of a Centre county man.

We hope that there may be no strife nor ill feeling engendered in the contest. Mr. McIntire, who now holds the seat, will, no doubt, be re-nominated by the Democrats. He must be defeated. The frauds of Philipsburg, and other portions of the district, so shamefully perpetrated in 1867, cannot, under the new Registry law, be repeated, so that with good men on our ticket, the rights of all respected, and harmony in our ranks, we can secure the election of our candidates, and obliterate the disgrace of 1867.

THE New York Herald, of Saturday, in reference to the King's county sheriffalty, says: "The climax of political rascality is reached in Brooklyn, where it is evidently determined that true Democracy consists in putting a Democrat in office; and if it be in defiance of the popular vote all the better.—What business have the people to any choice in such a matter? "Count the man in.' That is the whole philosophy of republics."

THE worst portion of the Democracy says the Chicago Post, is now trying to eliminate the Bible from the Common Schools. Next it will try to eliminate all other good books; and it would not be long, should the party succeed, till our now magnificent system of popular education would degenerate into a series of Confedrit X Roads affairs, with the inevitable distillery accompaniments.

Currency Question.

A Raid Commenced on the National Banks.

In order to give our readers some information in regard to the condition of the finances of the country, we clip the following extracts from some of the leading newspapers.

It will be seen that they differ somewhat in their opinions of the causes which led to the stringency of the money market, as well as in the remedies proposed. We do not agree with any of them, while the reasons given by the Press and Inquirer for the scarcity of money, are, to some extent, the true reason, we hold that they utterly fail in the remedies proposed.

In our humble opinion, the true remedy lies in the breaking up of the "Gold Gamblers Ring," in increased tariff duties; in fixing a time—a certain day—a year or two hence, for the resumption of specie payments, and in the adoption of a free banking system. A day fixed, say two years from the 1st of January, 1870, for a return to specie payments, would at once do away with the doubts and fears of the business and commercial men of the country, and as a matter of course, clear away the uncertainty of which the Inquirer speaks, when it says: "How soon it may come, or how long it may be delayed, no one knows; but in expectation of it, trade and commerce stand still and wait, making few ventures abroad." &c. What stronger argument could be urged in favor of fixing a certain day in the future for the return of specie payments. "Trade and commerce would no longer stand still," and with the other necessary legislation spoken of above, the business interests of the whole country would revive, the prosperity of the past ten years would be again enjoyed for the ten or twenty years next to come.

The New York Herald has a strong article against the National Banks. It urges that they want to drive the greenbacks out of existence, under the plea of a return to specie payments—which they do not desire—in order to obtain control of all the money in the country. The profits on the currency the Herald estimates at forty or fifty millions a year, and this, of course, includes a vast power over Government, politics, and material interests of the Republic The Herald's article is rather sensational; but its closing paragraph is of interest as showing the drift of thought in certain quarters. It says, after making the statements above as referred to:

"This is what the gigantic and dangerous monopoly is aiming at. It will have, undoubtedly, a powerful influence in Congress, for two thirds of the members, probably, are interested directly or indirectly in the national banking institutions. There is the greatest necessity, therefore, that public opinion should be aroused to the threatened evil. The people should demand that the legal currency be not reduced and that the circulation and power of the national banks be not increased. Indeed, the national bank currency ought to be withdrawn and greenbacks issued in its place. The West and South, as well as the East and North, might have then as many banks as they choose—that is, banks of deposits and loans, and for commercial accommodation, which is the only legitimate business of banking, all using at the same time the currency of the government and people for circulation. The government would then get the benefit of a national circulation, the profits of which are enormous; the people would have a uniform currency, perfectly safe and steady, and a monstrous and dangerous monopoly would be shorn of its power. If the currency is to be disturbed or changed at all, this is the only rational view to take of the matter—the only view in accordance with sound financial doctrine and the public interests."

The Phil'a. Inquirer says:

It is estimated that one out of twelve of the men and women among the laboring population of New York city are at present out of employment.—This fact argues a stagnation of business there almost as detrimental to employers as to the employed. Hard times are apt to affect all classes in nearly a similar manner, the only difference being in degree. There is no disguising the fact that throughout all commercial circles there is a vast deal of uncertainty and uneasiness regarding the future prospects of trade, and dealers who have accumulated large stocks of goods at high rates, view with alarm the present downward tendency of prices. Rents are daily falling, and almost all the necessaries of life, and its luxuries, too, show a certain decline.—The reason is, that the occasion of the inflated prices of everything having passed away, or being about to pass away, a return to ante Rebellion rates has become a necessity. The problem of a return to specie payments is working itself out, independently of the aid of statesmen and financiers. How soon it may come, or how long it may be delayed, no one knows; but in expectation of it trade and commerce stand still and wait, making few ventures abroad, and steering cautiously at home. Sooner or later the shock will come, and when it does the country will be better prepared for it than was generally expected a little while ago. Just now every capitalist, large or small, is steering as close to the wind as possible, and keeping shore well in sight. The result is a decreased business, and following that are thousands of men and women out of work. The misfortune is a great one, but it is apparently without a remedy. The harvests of war are not all garnered with the winning of the last battle. Other evils follow it as certainly as night follows day, and our present financial and business stagnation, is the legitimate result of the slaveholders' Rebellion.

The Phil'a. Press says;

"The opinion is gaining ground that the coming Congress will remodel the national banking system. The absolute necessity of having more currency is at last becoming apparent, and all classes of business men are strongly in favor of an increase. At the period when the banking act was passed nearly four hundred millions of greenbacks had been forced on the business community of the North and West, and created thereby something of an inflation. It was necessary, however, to still further increase the immediate revenues of the Government, and the idea of supplanting the old State banks by the creation of a circulation based on Government bonds, became at once popular. This served a double purpose; it enabled the Government to float a large amount of bonds, and also made a secured circulation, without increasing its volume. The new national bank issues drove out the old State notes, and left the volume of circulating medium at an average point. After the war ended, and while the South was absorbing a large proportion of the currency which had remained at the North. Mr. McCulloch uttered his well remembered speech in favor of contraction, which was followed by the actual contraction of four millions of greenbacks per month. The withdrawal of this seemingly small sum soon produced disastrous results, and after some months the plan was abandoned, owing to the absolute commands of Congress. The check to business was so great, however, that its effects are felt to the present day, and we are now suffering, and indeed it looks as if a long period of dullness was about to culminate in a collapse which only an extension of banking privileges can prevent. The country needs an absolute enlargement of working capital, and it is the fervent hope of all business men that Congress will take early action on the subject. At the same time the banking act was passed a limit was desirable and necessary, for the whole circulation was given to but a part of the country, and the volume was so great to what it was before the war that a free banking system seemed to be a wrong. But now all this is changed. We have grown in all directions, and the necessity for more money is so apparent that we are satisfied our legislators will soon furnish the necessary relief."

The New York Tribune says:

A Washington dispatch of yesterday says:

"There were One Hundred and Eight Millions in coin in the Treasury this morning."

Simultaneously with this, we note that the Gold Exchange Bank in this city has been set going again, and recommenced the operation which it calls "clearing gold"—that is, enabling those who wish to bet ten to fifty millions per day on the price of gold without having, receiving, paying, or seeing any gold. The two facts seem to us the complement of each other.

Had Secretary Boutwell, when the gold gamblers first after his appointment ran up the premium on gold to 145-6, just managed to let them have ten or twelve millions at 140 to 145, and as much more as they could be induced to take at 140, or over, we think that would have ended gold speculation. Let it now be understood that the Treasury is on the keen look-out for bargains in gold—that it stands ready to reduce its stock of that commodity, and buy bonds with the proceeds, so fast as it can do so to advantage, and we need be troubled with no more gold-gambling. The gamesters (as in their grand burst of Sept. 24) operate on the strength of their hope that the Government will let them make their point before it interferes. We think the Treasury should be as keen for turning a penny by selling gold as the gamblers are.

Fifty millions of gold might have been converted by the Treasury into at least fifty five millions of Government bonds since March 4, in addition to what have been thus converted.—The difference between these two amounts would have been so much added to the actual reduction of the Debt. The interest on these fifty-five millions of bonds would have been $3,300,000 per annum, whereof at least $1,000,000 would have accrued by this time, so that fifty millions of gold paid out would have reduced the Debt by fifty six millions already, and by $3,300,000 per annum henceforth. We can't help feeling that this was worth doing.

Let us hope that the work of liberating gold, and locking up (or burning) bonds, is henceforth to proceed with accelerated momentum, until no more coin shall be left in the Treasury than is absolutely required to meet accruing liabilities.

ON THE RAMPAGE.—The Centre Hall Reporter flies exceptions to our article on the tariff question and its great benefits to the workingmen of the country, which we published last week. He works himself up into an exceeding great passion, goes into hysteria, and instead of using arguments to convince us or his readers that our position or our theory is a false one, shows his gross ignorance of the subject by getting down in the dirt, and slime and filth, and resorts to low epithets and in one short article writes "knave, or fool" some six or seven times. We will attend to you Mr. KURTZ, next week.

LOCAL LAWS.

AN ACT To incorporate the Belleville and Pine Grove Turnpike Company.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That Samuel Waite, John Withers, R. H. Lee, David Mitchell, M. C. Nelson, John A. Wright, William Simms, W. H. Wommer, L. C. Hesklitt, Robert Hiney, Samuel Stefley, George M. Kepler, John B. Mitchell, William Burchfield, or any four of them, be and are hereby appointed commissioners to open books, receive subscriptions and organize a company, by the name, style and title of the Belleville and Pine Grove Turnpike Company, with power to construct a turnpike from Belleville, in the county of Mifflin, to Pine Grove, in the county of Centre, subject to all the provisions and restrictions of an act regulating turnpike and plank road companies, approved the twenty-sixth day of January, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and forty-nine, and the several supplements thereto, except so far as they are hereby altered and supplied.

SECTION 2. That the capital stock of the said company shall consist of five hundred shares, of twenty-five dollars each share: Provided, That said company may from time to time, by a vote of the stockholders, at a meeting called for that purpose, increase their capital stock so much as in their opinion may be necessary to complete said road and carry out the true intent and meaning of this act: Provided, That letters patent shall be issued to the company when ten or more persons shall have subscribed ten per centum of the capital stock hereby authorized.

SECTION 3. That it shall be lawful for the said company to make use of any county bridge on the line of the route of their road, and also use the whole or any part of any public road, and locate their road upon the ground occupied by any public road; and the court of quarter sessions of the county through which the road of the said company passes shall appoint viewers to view and vacate such parts of any public road as shall be used or rendered unnecessary by the construction of the said company's road, as is provided by the general laws of this commonwealth in the cases of roads which have become useless.

SECTION 4. That the president and managers shall have power to regulate and establish rates of toll, not exceeding quadruple the rates established by the act hereinbefore mentioned, and the several supplements thereto, and to erect toll-gates and collect tolls whenever any one mile thereof shall have been completed: Provided, That it shall not be required of the company to cause more than sixteen feet in width to be made an artificial road: And provided further, That their road shall at no places rise or fall more than will form an angle of six degrees from a horizontal line.

SECTION 5. That the said company shall have power to borrow money, at a rate of interest not exceeding eight per centum per annum, for the purpose of completing their road, and issue bonds therefor, and secure the same by mortgage of their road and franchises.

Speaker of the House of Representatives.
WILMER WORTHINGTON,
Speaker of the Senate.

Approved—The Twelfth day of April, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine. JNO. W. GEARY.

AN ACT To incorporate the Spring Creek Fish Company.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That D. G. Bush, S. T. Shugert, A. P. Green, C. T. Alexander, T. M. Howell, J. A. Hackenburg and R. H. Foster, of the county of Centre, and those who shall become stockholders in the company hereinafter named, be and they are hereby incorporated into a body politic and corporate, with the rights, privileges and franchises of a corporation, by the name, style and title of the Spring Creek Fish Company, for the purpose of the rearing, culture and sale of spawn and fish on or near the waters of Spring creek, in the county of Centre; and for that purpose shall have the right to hold and enjoy, by purchase or lease, or sale, at an appraisement of three disinterested men to be appointed by the court of common pleas of Centre county for that purpose, such lands and waters as may be necessary for said purposes, and to erect, maintain and put in operation such sluices, dams, inlets and reservoirs and buildings as may be necessary, and the same to lease or sell as they may deem proper.

SECTION 2. That the capital stock of said company shall be ten thousand dollars, in shares of ten dollars each, to be issued to the subscribers in proportion to the number of shares subscribed by each; and the said capital stock may be increased or diminished as the board of directors may determine.

SECTION 3. That if any person shall wilfully destroy or injure any dam, inlet, sluice or reservoir, or shall in any manner corrupt the waters of any sluice, inlet or reservoir, whereby the spawn of fish therein may be injured or destroyed, or shall fish in the ponds or reservoirs, and shall take fish from the same, or shall do and commit injury to the buildings or trees upon the grounds of said company, the same shall be a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof in the court of quarter sessions of Centre county, he or she so offending shall be fined by said court, in a sum not less than fifty dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or shall undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for not less than ten days or more than six months, or both, or either, at the discretion of the court.

SECTION 4. That the corporators above named shall, at the call of any three of their number of which five days' notice shall be given in writing to the other corporators, assemble at the Bush house, in Bellefonte, on a day and at a place fix d for that purpose, and then and there organize the said company by electing one of their number president, and one secretary and treasurer; and the said corporators shall form a board of directors to manage the affairs of said company for one year thereafter.

SECTION 5. That it shall be the duty of the secretary and treasurer to open books for subscription to the capital stock of said company, and issue certificates of stock, as may be provided in the by-laws.

SECTION 6. That the directors of said company may from time to time enact such by-laws, rules and regulations as may be necessary for the management of said company, not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of this commonwealth.

AN ACT For the better protection and maintenance of the poor in Erie county, and to equalize the burden of taxation for said purpose.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this act it shall be lawful for the court to appoint one of the acting justices of the peace in each of the boroughs, wards and townships, within the county of Erie, to determine for those respective boroughs, wards and boroughs, who are proper objects of charity, and who shall receive relief under the poor laws of this commonwealth, within their several districts, and shall also determine the assistance that shall be rendered as shall best protect the unfortunate and the interest of the tax-payers of the several townships, wards and boroughs within the said county, and in what way they shall be cared for, either by giving relief at home or sending them to the county poor house.

SECTION 2. That the commissioners of Erie county shall keep no account with the several townships, wards and boroughs within the same, and once in each year, at the regular settlement, exhibit to the auditors of said county the said accounts, and settle all matters relating to the keeping of the poor of said county; and that each township, ward or borough shall be charged with and pay the expenses of keeping their respective poor, and shall, in addition be charged with and pay their just portion towards the salary of the superintendent and necessary building, repairing and other expenses of the common poor house in said county, in proportion to the number of poor said townships, wards and boroughs may have in said poor house for that year.

SECTION 3. That the money collected from the several districts as aforesaid, for the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, and not required for the purposes aforesaid, shall remain a fund in the hands of the treasurer of said county, and be credited and stand for the use of the township, ward or borough from which it was collected, subject to the order of the justices of the proper district, but it shall be a good voucher to said treasurer in the settlement of his accounts with commissioners of the county, in the proper settlement to be made as aforesaid.

SECTION 4. That the commissioners of the county shall pay to the several justices of the peace, for their services as aforementioned, a reasonable compensation, when properly presented under oath or affirmation that it is just and correct, not exceeding one dollar and fifty cents for each day by them devoted to poor of their respective districts, and the same shall be charged to the districts in which said services were rendered.

AN ACT To cure the defects in fixing the number of jurors, and in filling the jury wheel in Centre county.

WHEREAS, The court of common pleas of Centre county, at its last session in one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, did not fix the number of jurors to be placed in the wheel for one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine; And Whereas, The president judge and jury commissioners of said county met and fixed the number, and selected the names and placed them in the wheel in the month of January, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, and it is desired to validate said action therefore.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the proceedings of the president judge and jury commissioners of centre county, in fixing the number of persons to be placed in the jury wheel for one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine in selecting said names and in placing them in said jury wheel, and all defects in regard thereto, or in drawing jurors therefrom, are hereby validated and made legal with like effect as if the same had been done in strict compliance with existing laws,

LECTURE.—The Phila Press, in speaking of Wm L. Dennis, Esq., who will lecture in the Court House on Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week, says: "Mr. Dennis is unquestionably, one of the best lecturers now before the public. His lectures are full of true wit; and we feel that we can safely promise a pleasant evening to all who may hear him."

VENISON.—We learn that, on Monday the 15th inst., Mr. William Tanier, of Ferguson tp., while crossing the barrens, on his way to work, shot a large deer, weighing 210 pounds. Our "Tadpole reporter" says he was presented with a piece which was very nice and fat. If he would send us a piece, we could then, with some heart, join our reporter in wishing Mr. Tanier success, and a deer every pop.

A STRAW will make an impression on the virgin snow; let it remain but a short time, and a horse's hoof can scarcely penetrate it. So it is with the youthful mind. A trifling word may make an impression on it; but after a few years, the most powerful appeals may cease to influence it. Think of this, ye who have the training of the infant mind, and leave such impressions thereon as will be safe for it to carry amid the follies and temptations of the world.

NEW RULE.—The following rule of Court was adopted November 22, 1869. Jurors will hereafter find it a serious matter to fail to obey the summons of the Court. From present indications, Judge Mayer means business:

Any person regularly summoned by the Sheriff, or his Deputies, and failing to attend, shall be liable to a fine of twenty dollars, unless he can furnish an excuse for his non-attendance, which shall be deemed sufficient by the Court.

MIGHT HAVE BEEN WORSE.—We are sorry to learn that Jacob Carter Esq., of Ferguson tp., met with a serious accident, a few days ago. He stuck a hatchet in a long pole in order to reach it to the carpenter, who was at work in the upper part of the building. Before it reached the carpenter, it fell, the bit striking Mr. Carter on the head, felling him to the ground. As good luck would have it, the hatchet was very dull. To this fact, we have no doubt, Mr. Carpenter owes his life.

BOOKS! BOOKS!—Our readers who desire to send their orders to a reliable firm should address Hunter & Co., Hinsdale, N. H. For ten years this house has led in the mail book trade. They have no equals in prompt attention to orders. They often receive from six to seven hundred letters daily, and load down the mails with books, &c., sent to their customers. If you desire to deal with a "fair and square" concern, who will do just as they agree every time, be sure to avoid the city swindlers and address for Catalogue, &c., &c., Hunter & Co., Publishers, Hinsdale, N. H.

WHAT NEXT?—We are informed by our very reliable reporter that, on Tuesday or Wednesday of last week, a young gentleman and lady appeared before one of the citizens of Pine Grove Mills, having authority to "tie the holy knot," and informed him that they had come to be married. Thinking the gentleman a little juvenile in his appearance, he was informed that the knot could not be tied until he brought a certificate, or a paper, from his father. The young gentleman did not "stand long upon the order of his going," but departed at once, and soon returned with a flushed and joyful countenance, bringing with him a copy of the Democratic Watchman.

LIFE.—Life is short, the poor pittance of seventy years is not worth being a villain for. What matters if your neighbor lies in a splendid tomb? Sleep you with innocence. Look behind you through the track of time; a vast desert lies upon the retrospect; through this have your fathers journeyed on, until wearied with years and sorrow, they sunk from the wal-k of man. You must leave them where they fell, and you are to go a little further, where you will have eternal rest. Whatever you may have to encounter between the cradle and the grave, every moment is big with innumerable events, which come not in slow succession, but bursting forcibly from a revolving and unknown cause, fly over this orb with diversified influence.

THE Editor of the Wheeling Intelligencer is of the opinion that "an Editor who respects his obligations to tell the truth about men and measures inevitably makes many enemies; and the number grows steadily with his length of service. Every rascal whose sins he treads on, and every demagogue whose purpose he thwarts, becomes a lifelong enemy.—None of these ever forget his offence; and as their number constantly accumulates, the honest Editor can always count on a large number of implacable and bitter foes; ready to stab him whenever opportunity offers. The general public whom he faithfully serves, are his friends; but only passively so. They look upon him as entitled to no special credit, because he only did his duty; and they have none of the incentive to zeal in his behalf that is felt against him by the disappointed politician whose toil he refused to become, or the thieving lobbyman whom he exposed." Our Wheeling cousin appears to speak from experience.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.—We copy the following particulars in relation to the Centre County Teachers' Institute, from a circular handed us by Prof. Magee, believing that it will prove interesting to the Teachers, and all true friends of education:

Our Annual County Institute will be held this year at Howard, commencing on Monday evening, Dec. 27th, at 7 o'clock.

All Teachers, and all who are preparing to teach, will be regarded as members of the Institute.

The law contemplates that Boards of Directors shall grant Teachers the time to attend the Institute, and count the same as teaching. Directors are reminded that this does not conflict with the affidavit required of the President of the Board. The plan adopted by a number of districts last year, of lengthening the term one week, by paying the Teachers for their time and requiring them to attend the whole time, or forfeit all, is, perhaps, preferable. We trust the Directors of Centre county will not be found derelict in this respect, for the Institute, if properly conducted, is certainly a benefit, not only directly to the Teachers, but indirectly to their schools.

But whether allowed the time or not, it is a duty every Teacher owes to the profession, and we confidently expect every Teacher in the county, not unavoidably detained, to be present.

Teachers, let nothing prevent you from attending; for paid attendance, at best, does not argue for professional zeal; but come because you feel a love for it, and let us try to make it so attractive and instructive; that no Teacher, whether paid or not, can possibly afford to lose the benefit of a single session. It is your Institute, and by your attendance and interest only can it be made truly successful. Last year there were 165 Teachers present. There should be an increase of 20 per cent to properly indicate the increased interest manifested in education.

THE EXERCISES

The Exercises will consist of Teachers' Sessions, or working Sessions, during the day, and Lectures and addresses in the evening. During the day Sessions instructions will be given (in Lectures, to be followed by recitations) in Orthography and Reading, by G. W. Ebrite; English Grammar, by Henry Meyer; Elocution, by B. F. Hughes; Penmanship, by H. O. Kline; Arithmetic, by G. W. Rumbarger; Geography and United States History, by F. W. A. Shultz; Geology, by S. J. Dorsey; Algebra, by Joseph Peters; Mental Science by J. S. Ermentrout; Botany and Chemistry, by G. W. Leisher; Physiology and Hygiene, by Drs. J. Rhoads and S. L. Vanvalzah. (As many of the above to be daily, as time will permit.)

LECTURES

Lectures will be delivered at the evening Sessions by Albert Owen, F. W. A. Shultz, G. W. Leisher, Dr. P. S. Fisher, S. L. Stiver, W. A. Shappee, W. A. Ridge, J. A. Bright, D. H. Hastings, Ellis Lytle, Rev. G. E. Zehner, J. P. Smith, J. H. Chatham, S. O. M'Curly, H. W. Super, H. D. Van Pelt, T. J. Smull, and others.

ESSAYS,

on different subjects, will be read by Misses. M. Coy, Barr, Shadman, Moser, Weaver, Huey, Thomas, Shannon, Caldwallader, Thompson, M'Cormick, Miller, Downing, Canon, Adams, Willow, Bollinger, M'Caleb, Hudson, Taylor, Shaw and Russell.

ROLL CALL

The roll will be called morning and afternoon, as required by law, and on Friday afternoon, tickets of membership will be given teachers, to show to the directors of their respective districts, setting forth how many Sessions were attended.

ACCOMMODATION, &C

A Local Committee will find homes for Teachers. Board and lodging, 75 cents per day. Those who pay full railroad fare coming, will be returned free.

Teachers should provide themselves with note books, that they may record whatever may be deemed of interest to themselves and their schools.

MUSIC.

The exercises will be interspersed during the day and evening with vocal and instrumental music. The music will be selected from the "Songs of Gladness."

Teachers are requested to prepare themselves to discuss all subjects as above classified. These should be made a life study, and a life work by Teachers.

Hon. J. P. Wickersham, State Superintendent, will probably be present part of the time. Profs. D. M. Wolf, S. P. Hughes and Hon. T. H. Burrowes, J. D. Wingate, P. Gray Meek, W. H. H. Breinerd, and others, have been invited, and are expected to be present.

DIRECTORS' DAY

We earnestly desire the presence of our School Directors; and in order that all may meet and exchange views, Thursday, Dec. 30th, will be set apart as "Directors' Day," when the following questions will be discussed:

1. How shall our schools be supplied with well qualified Teachers?

2. Teachers' Salaries—What should be the basis for grading them?

3. Should unlicensed persons be permitted to teach in the public school houses during the summer months?

Directors Blair, of Unionville, and Hunter, of Benner, are requested to open the discussion of the first named question; Rearick, of Farmers' Mills, and Schaeck, of Howard, the second; and Harvey, of Ferguson, and Lukens, of Bush, the third.

The Committee on Permanent Certificates will be elected on Friday afternoon, when the regular annual election of officers will take place.

CAPT. ISAAC LYTLE a student of Wilson and Hutchison, and Cyrus Gordon a student of A. O. Furst, in the science of Law, were duly admitted to the Bar of Centre County at the present Term of the Court. We congratulate both of these young gentlemen, and recommend them to those who need the services of reliable and energetic Attorneys.

F. P. WILSON, of the Diamond Drug Store has just returned from the City with another lot of fresh drugs and fancy articles. Also a splendid new Segar Show-case.

ZION AHEAD.—Daniel Lesh, near Zion, in walker Twp., Has, he says harvested one hundred and ninety bushels of corn per acre on his farm the present year. Who can beat it?

THANKSGIVING.—This day passed away quietly, with order reigning supremely all day. Rev. Jas. Mullen, preached one of the best Thanksgiving sermons to which we have ever listened. As it will appear in the public prints we refrain from further comments at this time. The M. E. Church of this City, has great reason to congratulate herself upon the ability, usefulness, and efficiency of her minister.

A NOVEL PROPOSITION.—Dr. Sage has discovered a sure and speedy remedy for Catarrh, and the proprietor offers $500 for a case of that loathsome disease that he cannot cure. It cures catarrh in all its stages, forms and varieties, with unerring certainty. If your Druggist does not keep this Remedy take no other but enclose sixty cents to the proprietor, R. V. PIERCE M. D., Buffalo, N. Y., and the Remedy will reach you by return mail. For sale by most Druggists every where. nov17 2w.

NEW STORE.—Do you want cheap clothing? Are you determined not to freeze during the cold winter months? If so we would advise our readers to call at the New clothing Store of Messrs. Goldman, Bernard & Co., of N. Y., just opened in the corner room of Edward Brown's new building, on Allegheny St. They have a fine assortment, and it is our opinion, that our readers can save the price of one year's subscription to the REPUBLICAN, in the purchase of one suit of clothes.

P. C. Hoffman who represents the "Co" here, is a clever man, and takes great pleasure in waiting upon all who favor him with a call.

WATER.—We clip the following from the Norfolk Virginian:

A number of gentlemen of the city, accompanied by Messrs. F. A. Gibbon and D. I. Pruner, two Engineers recently arrived from the North, yesterday paid a visit to Bradford's pond, for the purpose of taking a look at the proposed source of the water supply of the city. We learn from parties who are taking great interest in the scheme, that the gentlemen above named were favorably impressed by the prospect, and declared the supply amply sufficient for Baltimore or New York. They also expressed their willingness to contract for building the works at a reasonable figure. We want water, badly, but on an economical basis.

We would here assure the authorities of Norfolk that, so far as D. I. Pruner is concerned, they could not secure a more reliable or competent contractor.

STILL AHEAD.—That "Star Spangled Banner" which, for seven years, has "waved" to the great satisfaction of its many thousand readers and to the dissatisfaction of all swindlers and rascals generally, is even more wide awake than ever. It has, at an immense expense, secured the services of an eminent artist, and the result is that it proposes to give away a splendid engraving entitled "Evangeline," to every subscriber for 1870. This superb work of art is one and one half by two feet in size, and is equal to the best $3 engraving ever offered.—"The Banner" is a large eight page, forty-column paper, overflowing with splendid reading of all kinds, and costs only 75 cents a year, which is very cheap for the paper alone; but the publishers propose giving every subscriber a copy of their engraving gratis. The paper and its publishers are reliable, and it will pay to send for specimens to "The Star Spangled Banner," Hinsdale, N.H., or they can be seen at this office.

THANKSGIVING DAY IN PHILIPSBURG.—We learn from our Philipsburg reporter that religious services were held in the different churches, which were very well attended. Appropriate sermons were preached by the different ministers.

The schools were closed, thus implanting in the youthful mind the duty of offering thanks to the Giver of the many privileges and bountiful gifts which have been so abundantly showered upon us during the past year.

The principal places of business were closed during the day and evening, and all seemed anxious to conform to the President's Proclamation.

None but passenger trains were running this day; hence many of the employees enjoyed the day hugely.

Of the innumerable turkeys and chickens that were slaughtered and devoured it is unnecessary to speak, as they were requisites to the occasion.

A great Methodist revival is now going on at Philipsburg, under the charge of Rev. Mr. Guier. The Lord grant that he may accomplish much good, and that all those converted may never backslide.

Y. M. C. A.—Hon William L. Dennis, of Philadelphia, one of the most popular, because one of the most amusing lecturers of the age, will deliver, in the Court House, his famous lectures, entitled, 1st. "Dr. Dipps, of Ponyville," 2nd "The Social Fossils," on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, 24th and 25th inst., by invitation of the Young Men's Christian Association. The lectures will commence precisely at 7 o'clock. Tickets 50c ea.

We clip the following notice from the Phil'a Inquirer:

PONEYVILLE LECTURES.

The third of this course of lectures was given by William L. Dennis, Esq., at the Assembly Building, last evening, to a first class audience. The social fossils of Poneyville were served up in an amusing style, and at the same time the lecture was an earnest and eloquent appeal for the highest sanctities of social life. The lifelike portraitures of Mrs. Blinder, Old Grubbs, Tim Thoughtless, and Mr. Heritable Plush kept the hearers in the best humor, while the home thrusts at the social follies of the day were wholesomely instructive. Mrs. Wiggins and her party, on Tuesday evening next, will terminate the course of these very popular lectures.

Married.

DOIE—BOTTORFF.—On the 18th inst., at The residence of Mrs. Carter, Joseph Doie and Miss Nancy Jane Bottorff, of Penn'a. Furnace.

MITCHELL—THOMAS.—On the 18th inst. at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. Jos. H. Barnard, Mr. Isaac Mitchell, and Miss Debbie D. Thomas, both of Bellefonte.

Mr. Mitchell, and his happy and beautiful bride, have our best wishes for there porperity in life. Long may they live to enjoy, the blessings and pleasures of connubial bliss, and after their heads have been silvered o'er with age, for years and years, at least four score and ten.

May their passage be,
As sets the morning star,
Which goes not down behind the darkened west
Nor hides obscure amid the tempest of the sky.
But melts away into the light of heaven.

Special Notices.

Burnside & Thomas, are honest and true
To beat other merchants they easily can do,
They are not selling at cost as Jews generally do,
To humbug the public as others can do
If we want a good article it is just the place,
They take a race with every merchant in the place,
They have every thing in the merchandize line,
And any better is hard to find.
Just give them a call and you will find,
A good assortment of every kind,
To suit your taste, they will not rue it.
For they are the men that just can do it.

NEW DRUG STORE.

IN BROCKERHOFF'S NEW BLOCK

BISHOP ST., BELLEFONTE, PA.

The undersigned take pleasure in announcing to the citizens of Bellefonte—Centre, Clinton and Clearfield counties in general, that they have just opened their New Drug Store for the accommodation of the public, and they hereby extend a cordial invitation to all who may be in need and wish to obtain Fresh, PURE AND GENUINE MEDICINES, CHEMICALS, DRUGS & all such articles as are kept in a FIRST CLASS DRUG STORE, lately selected with great care in the cities of N. York and Philadelphia, by the Senior partner of the establishment, who has had over 30 yrs experience in the art. The German Language spoken, read and written here, as well as the English Tongue, hence Physician's prescriptions will be accurately and carefully compounded, in either Language, and at all hours during the day or night. We modestly and kindly ask for a liberal share of public favor and patronage. We make no attempt to enumerate the articles kept in our establishment, since such enumeration would take up the greatest space of a newspaper. We would merely say here that our SELECTION & ASSORTMENT is well nigh complete. Come and judge for yourselves. Besides the regular

DRUGS, MEDICINES & CHEMICALS,

we have a fine lot of FANCY GOODS, such as

EXTRACTS AND PERFUMES

For Ladies; POCKET CUTLERY, BIRD CAGES, HANGING BASKETS, SODA FOUNTAIN WITH CREAM NECTAR, A LARGE and well selected lot of WALL PAPER and cheap at that, viz:—From Ten cents to $2.50 per Roll. GIVE US A CALL

THE ANNOYING HEADACHE, with its attendant poisonous irritating snuffs and strong caustic solutions with which the people have long been humbugged, simply palliate for a short time, or drive the disease to the lungs, as there is danger of doing in the use of such nostrums, but it produces PERFECT AND PERMANENT CURES OF THE WORST CASES OF CHRONIC CATARRH, as thousands can testify. "COLD IN THE HEAD" is cured with a few applications. CATARRHAL HEADACHE is relieved and cured as if by magic. It removes offensive Breath, Loss or Impairment of the sense of taste, smell or hearing, Watering or Weak Eyes, and Impaired Memory, when caused by the violence of Catarrh, as they all frequently are. We offer in good faith a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh that we cannot cure.

FOR SALE BY MOST DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE

PRICE ONLY FIFTY CENTS.

Ask your druggist for the REMEDY, but if he has not yet got it on sale, don't be put off by accepting any miserable worse than worthless substitute, but enclose sixty cents to me and the Remedy will be sent you post paid. Four packages $2.00, or one dozen for $5.00. Send a two cent stamp for Dr. Sage's pamphlet on Catarrh. Address the Proprietor.

CANN

Agricultural Department.

WEDNESDAY MORNING Nov. 24 '69.

The Plow, Spade and Hoe.

The farmer's the chief of the nation,
The oldest of nobles is he,
How blest beyond others his station,
From want and from envy how free!
His patent was granted in Eden,
Long ages and ages ago,
O the farmer, the farmer forever,
Three cheers for the plow, spade and hoe.

In April, when nature is waking,
And blue-birds are first on the wing,
His plows now the furrows are breaking,
Whence beautiful harvests shall spring;
Then broadest along the brown furrow
We hasten the good seed to sow,
O the farmer, the farmer forever,
Three cheers for the plow, spade and hoe.

When summer in beauty is glowing,
With fresh early morn he's away,
And skilfully guides he the mowing,
Or tosses the sweet scented hay,
Then casts him at noon by the brook-side
Where gaily its bright waters flow,
O the farmer the farmer forever,
Three cheers for the plow, spade and hoe.

But when in the clear autumn weather
He reaps the reward of his care,
So busy and joyful together,
What monarch with him can compare?
His barns running over with plenty,
His trees with their fruit bending low,
O the farmer, the farmer forever,
Three cheers for the plow, spade and hoe.

Then sing me the life of a farmer,
With comfort and health in his train,
And heed not the voice of the charmer,
That whispers of speedier gain—
With all the rich treasures 'tis teeming
That Heaven on its child can bestow,
O the farmer, the farmer forever,
Three cheers for the plow, spade and hoe.

Milk Cans.

The following communication reached us too late for insertion last week. We insert in this number with the request that the writer will favor us with more of the same sort, and we take this occasion to ask our farmers and scientific men, to send us communications every week, giving their views upon any and all agricultural subjects. Practical knowledge is what the people want.

Come friends, wake up. The long winter nights are coming. You want your children to grow up to be intelligent men and women. This can only be accomplished by the proper efforts on the part of parents, and the placing in their possession, reliable and intelesting papers, containing miscellaneous, local, political, agricultural, and scientific reading matter. How pleasant it is to see the little group comfortably seated around the room, the younger members quietly listening while the elder brother or sister reads, in a distinct voice, the family paper, or the American Agriculturist, and how doubly interesting it will be to hear your children read to you, papa's communication "for the Bellefonte REPUBLICAN."

Farmers, let us have your ideas, your experience, your practical knowledge of farming. Hoping that you will favor us with communications, we will give you one man's opinion of milk cans:

BELLEFONTE, Nov. 12, 1869.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I see, in your last week's REPUBLICAN, an article in relation to keeping milk cans clean, and how to clean them. The directions there given, are very good. The dairy maid knows the great trouble she has to keep her milk utensils clean and sweet. To obviate all this, I would recommend her to use glass alone for all puposes, except for milking and carrying the milk. Glass basins, or glass cream crocks, are far preferable to earthen or tin. All that is necessary in cleaning a glass basin, is to wash it as you would a tumbler. When clean it is always sweet, no matter how long sour milk has been in it—it never sours. They will cost very little more than tin; with care will last longer than tin; will not require any more care than earthen crocks to keep them whole. They will yield more cream than either of the other articles now used for holding milk. **

TO STORE CELERY FOR THE WINTER.—If frost or water reaches the tops, the leaves and stalks will decay. Select a dry day, when the earth is not wet, and make a ridge of the soil, as high as your celery stalks are long—say eighteen inches or two feet in height, pointed at the top. Now dig up your celery, taking great care not to shake the dirt from the roots, and place the heads of the celery on both sides of the ridge, roots up, heads down, pack them closely together the whole length of the ridge, and cover the stalks and roots with dry earth. Now place another layer of celery, then a covering of earth, and so continue until all are buried. Cover the whole with earth to the depth of eighteen inches or two feet. Before the snow falls deep, place hemlock boughs, straw or leaves thickly over the whole—the former being the most frost-proof. Three tiers deep is enough for one ridge. Celery will keep in this manner fresh and clean. Some prefer to cover the stalks with dried leaves before the earth is on, thinking thereby they prevent "resting."—Age.

IF a horse is at all inclined to kick in harness, listen to no excuse made for his having done so. He may go quietly for a week, month or year; but unless he is a mere inexperienced colt, kick again he will, so sure as he is a horse. If, after knowing what harness means, a horse kicks, he is not to be radically cured of the propensity; believe no breaker who promises to take it out of him.

Mince Pies.

As the season for mince pie making is approching, the following instructions in regard to making pie crust, will prove acceptable to some of our lady readers. They are from a correspondent of the Country Gentleman: No matter how delicious and good the materials, if the result is heavy, though greasy crust, the material is worse than wasted.

Perhaps no form of food in common use is more indigestible than the ordinary method of preparing pie crust. If we will have it, great care should be taken to make it as nicely and delicately as possible.

A few things should be carefully observed in its preparation. The lard or butter used for shortening should be of the very best quality. Salt should be freely used with lard; neither should ever be in the least degree melted. A cool room (if hot weather) cool molding board, cools hands and water are indispensable. A bowl of ice water to dip the hands into, as well as to mix with, is a great help. A marble board is best, and a cellar or cool milk room to prepare paste, if hot weather.

When the water is added, mix with a spoon or knife, just sufficient to make all adhere together, touch none with the hands until ready to roll, then cut with a knife a piece just large enough for the size of the plate, knead not all, but touch lightly, and roll but one way, never back and forth. Experience will teach about the size necessary for one crust, and thus one will not be necessitated to work over again bits, which would form a touch, disagreeable crust. Pieces, however, that are left, should always be used, either for an under crust, or baked for lunch crumbs.

A pint of flour, rightly managed, will make two crusts and a piece of shortening as large as a goose egg will be sufficient. If you desire it more flaky, without the trouble of puff paste, spread soft butter or lard upon the upper crust before sending to the oven.

DRY WALKS FOR WINTER.—We should be remiss in our duty were we to neglect, at this season of the year, to repeat our counsel as to the great comfort and convenience which dry walks insure about dwellings, barns, and outhouses generally, in winter and early spring. We are pained sometimes to see the utter negligence prevailing upon some premises in this respect. A few old boards, or a dollar's worth or two of new boards—nice flat stones, or a liberal supply of coal ashes, would save ten times the cost in shoe leather, damp feet, colds, doctors' bills and loss of time. Coal ashes laid on dry ground to the depth of three or four inches, after removing the mud, make a first rate walk, and they can be put to no better use. The difference to be seen upon a premises where dry walks are provided wherever needed, when compared to others where this moral influence has no abiding place, is enough to make us shiver as well as to cause us to feel for the absence of social charities in the family. A Christian man exhibits the effects of the religion he professes in everything, and in nothing more than his domestic relations.—Germantown Telegraph.

GET RID OF UNDESIRABLE STOCK. Farmers should be very careful in selecting breeding animals of every kind. It is a great mistake to waste provender on stock of an inferior quality, which are not only far from profitable, but unprofitable even after consuming an amount of pasture or forage that would "tell" on a better class of animals. Old horses are a bad dependence for spring work. A thrifty farmer generally manages to get rid of his horses before they are past their labor, and fall on his hands a dead loss. Old milch cows are not fit for the dairy, they should be fattened or sold as soon as they are no longer profitable for milking or breeding purposes. Old ewes produce light fleeces and small weak lambs; they are more liable to lose their wool by brush and briars than young sheep, and they do not winter well; they should be culled out of the flock and made fit for the butcher.

KEEPING POTATOES IN CELLARS.—It is a bad plan to place potatoes against the damp walls of a cellar, or to put them in large, deep bins, where they will be likely to gather moisture. If bins are used, the bottom should be made of strips, with small spaces left between, to admit air. Barrels or open boxes are also good, as well as convenient vessels, in which to keep potatoes, and whenever it is necessary to look over and pick out decayed tubers it is more easily done than when a large number of bushels are placed in one heap or bin. Cellars in which potatoes are kept should not be too light, because it will, as every farmer knows, make them turn green, and injure their flavor and value.—Hearth and Home.

THERE is said to be carried off from the soil nine pounds of lime in twenty bushels of wheat, nine pounds in fifty bushels of oats, and fifteen pounds in thirty-eight bushels of barley. There are thirty-five pounds of lime in two tons of clover, one hundred and forty pounds in twenty-five tons of turnips, and two hundred and seventy pounds in nine tons of potatoes. Some soils contain an abundance of lime for a thousand years, while others require an occasional application of lime as a fertilizer.

COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILROAD.

GREAT RUSH TO STERNBERG'S.

Sung to the Tune of Yankee Doodle.

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And now comple connection's made.—
An enterprising notion.

The mighty work at last is done,
So speedily and brisk, oh!
And now in ten days we can run
From here to San Francisco.

No more we take the ancient route,
The stage, a horrid slow thing;
It banged the passengers about,
And wore out all their clothing.

CHORUS, for the end of each verse:

The Great Pacific Railroad's laid,
From ocean unto ocean,
And we buy clothes from A. STERNBERG
A most delightful notion.

Through passengers by the Pacific Railroad will call at the store of A. Sternberg, before starting, and provide themselves with a complete outfit of the elegant and substantial Spring and Summer Clothing, the very best assortment of which will always be found at A. Sternberg's Store.

People who travel by other routes, and also people who, instead of traveling by any route at all, prefer to stay at home, can find the most superior and seasonable garments, for every occasion, of every variety, and at the lowest prices.

Do not fail to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere, if you do not, we are sure you will be sorry that you did not. Our goods are put down to the lowest figure. We sell whole suits, according to quality,

All manner of work such as Scroll Sawing, Moulding, Brackets, &c., &c made after any desired pattern.

ON THE SHORTEST NOTICE.

This company is composed of practicable mechanics, and Samuel Adams, one of the Co., has been foreman of the Bellefonte Planing Mill since its commencement.

Connected with the mill, and in operation at all times, is one of the latest improved

COKE DRYING KILNS;

which leaves the lumber in a perfectly healthy state, assists in preserving it, and in fact adds to its lasting qualities, while other methods of drying deteriorate, and renders it more liable

TO DECAY AND WASTE.

Lumber dried in a Coke kiln, is dried perfectly, and when worked and put up, will not

SHRIVEL AND SHRINK,

thus giving buildings the appearance of having been erected out of Green Material.

We know that our facilities give us every advantage over other

SEWING MACHINES.

AMERICAN BUTTON-HOLE OVER-SEAMING AND SEWING MACHINE COMBINED.

MEDAL AWARDED AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION, 1867.

In directing attention to the celebrated COMBINATION BUTTON HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE, we feel fully warranted in claiming for it unquestionable superiority over all others as a Family Machine—The Simplicity, Ease and Certainty with which it operates, as well as the uniform excellence of its work, certainly place it far in advance of any other similar invention of the age.

It is also the cheapest, intrinsically, as well as the best, since it is really two machines combined in one, (by a simple and beautiful mechanical arrangement never before accomplished by human ingenuity,) making either the Lock Stitch or Button Hole Stitch, as occasion may require. It is, at the same time, simple in construction, comparatively noiseless, easily understood, and, in a word, it combines with those advantages exclusively its own the most desirable qualities of all others, for it not only does every variety of sewing in a SUPERIOR MANNER, but in addition OVERSEAMS splendidly and makes beautiful BUTTON and EYELET HOLES in all fabrics. This is far beyond the capacity of any other machine.

The SPLENDID MECHANISM of this Machine, and the superior skill workmanship and materials employed in its construction, are a guarantee of accuracy, strength and durability and enable the company and its agents to Warrant Every Machine they sell to give entire satisfaction.

INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN ON THE MACHINE GRATUITOUSLY.

Lessons may be taken if desired with a view to test the Machine, or to become better acquainted with it before deciding to purchase. Samples of work will be furnished upon application at

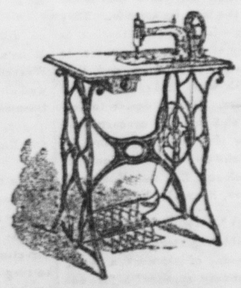
SEWING MACHINE.

THE SINGER SEWING MACHINE.



Among sewing machines, those made by the Singer Manufacturing Company, rank with the highest. Their manufacturing machines, have long been known as the best for manufacturing purposes. But within the past few years, they have given special attention to the production of a are simple and easily understood. Its delicate though enduring and tireless muscles of iron and steel, do all the work noiselessly, better, and few will deny, "Faster than hand can do it." They urge those wishing to purchase a machine to examine all the other manufactures before buying, as it will, for itself, overcome all the objections to the other machines that can be brought against it. Machines on hand for sale and exhibition, together with a full and complete assortment of
